Janus... as in January

In Roman mythology, Janus was the god of gates, doors, doorways, beginnings, and endings. His most apparent remnant in modern culture is his namesake, the month of January.

To assist Janus, with his backward and forward looking abilities, annually (since January 2005) each Kiwanis Family House Board member is asked to look back and select one or two accomplishment(s) for the past year and then provide a goal (or two) for the new year.

These are responses from the board members who responded this year.

Calvin Hara (Vice President of KFH Board):

"The spirit of volunteerism flourished in 2011 with many Kiwanians, sponsored program youth from Circle K and Key Club providing financial and hands on assistance. The spirit of compassion to helping those in need is appreciated by the 100+ families staying at the Kiwanis Family House each month."

"I look forward to the new year with the same and even more excitement and unselfish giving. The Board of Directors will continue to guide the organization with fiscal and sound responsibility."

Rita Beall:

"Accomplishments for 2011: -Opened our first-ever See's Candy Holiday Store for our KFH -Met with stakeholders to develop new Strategic Plan and focus for next 3-5 years"

"Goals for Next Year:

President's Message by Bill Hooper

The first six months of our Kiwanis Family House (KFH) year have been challenging, exciting, and productive.

The excitement is evident every time I go to our House and watch Key Clubbers, Circle K members, and Kiwanis members either working on a project, or talking excitedly together before or after a meeting, or visiting with a patient who stopped them to say thank you.

The central location of our KFH to the Sacramento and Northern California area has given us a secondary mission as a gathering place for the Kiwanis family. If you or members of your club have not visited us think about calling us, taking a tour and/or holding a meeting at the House. It really feels good to experience firsthand the difference your House and your efforts are making for over 100 families a month.

It has been productive because we have successfully implemented and carried out many new fund raisers such as the Rose Bowl Extravaganza, and working for Fun Events. Both Kiwanis Clubs and Service Leadership Programs (SLP) Clubs have helped with these fund raisers and organized events of their own which have been very successful.

The energy is positive as members of the Kiwanis family call us to ask how they can help at the House or to offer a suggestion on a new project, suggest a prospective corporate partner, or a grant that we might want to apply for. UC Davis Medical Center continues to expand, providing more specialized care for children and this has brought us more patients from all over the district and the world. There has been very little slow down this winter as we always have a waiting list.

In 2012 we will continue to look for corporate partners, search for grants that seem to be appropriate for us and apply for them. The positive publicity we have received from being selected by the Sacramento Bee's Book of Dreams and being featured every week in the newspaper has been great for KFH, UCD Med Center, and Kiwanis. Board members are always working with community

Rose Bowl Extravaganza Winners By Roni Stroud

"What a true honor it was to represent both Division 44 and the Kiwanis Family House on last year's Kiwanis International Float and the idea came to me for this year's fund raiser.

"One didn't need to be a Kiwanian to win nor did they have to come from an area that actively supports KFH. However ... as luck would have it this year, Bill Hooper (current president of KFH), drew the ticket of not only a Kiwanian but a very active Kiwanian who has supported the Kiwanis Family House from the very, very beginning."

First Prize (two rides on the Rose Bowl Float) went to: Bob Tutton a member of the Kiwanis Club of Auburn, Division 44, volunteers at our Kiwanis Family House and has served on its Board of Directors. His wife, Carlene, is also a member of Auburn Club and attended both KFH ground-breakings with Bob as well as being one of the first volunteers at KFH.

Bob commented: "When Roni called me and told me about the drawing for the Tournament of Roses Extravaganza drawing I thought she was just called to let me know the outcome-- and told me they missed me being there. She told me who pulled each winning ticket and that they were each put in a separate envelope. So I'm listening to all of this and the winners of 2nd and 3rd prizes. Then she told me Bill Hooper pulled the 1st place prize winner and it was Carlene and I and everyone applauded and said wonderful things. I believed Roni, but I told her 'I can't believe it' and it still has not fully sunk in.

"We are honored to be the recipients of the grand prize and honored to be the representatives for Kiwanis and the KFH. Wow, it is still hard to believe We are so looking forward to the trip; neither of us has seen the parade in person.

"Own The Clouds"

The first Guide to Investing in Cloud Computing Companies by Joyce Blonskij

All Kiwanians and friends of our KFH are invited to a virtual 24 hour book launch party that starts at midnight Tuesday, January 31, 2012.

All of the author's proceeds will be donated to the Kiwanis Family House. The goal is to raise $100,000.

"My goal is to enlist the help of hundreds of caring Kiwanians and friends to send out over one million messages around the world using: e-mail, Facebook post and Twitter feeds on launch day, Tuesday Jan 31, 2012, to generate at least 12,000 book sales, and to raise one hundred thousand dollars to help hospitalized children get better faster and back home with their families by providing parents a way to be at their child's bedside."

Ever wished you had invested in Microsoft, Google, or Apple before they exploded and dominated their industries? The next boom is taking shape and happening right now. Bill Gates wrote in a 2005 memo to top executives, "The next sea change is upon us." He was talking about cloud computing – the new buzzword for all things wireless, and connect us through the Internet, a.k.a. the "cloud."

But how do you sift through all the players in the race to find the ones who will eventually shoot out ahead?

Own the Clouds: The First Guide to Investing in Cloud Computing Companies is the place to start.

Here's what you'll learn: You'll learn about clouds, the Four Key Cloud Elements, and secrets rarely shared by financial professionals to help you invest and choose wisely.

Bowl game and $500 spending money). The Kiwanis Club of Placerville, after winning 2nd prize, went back to their club meeting and re-auctioned off the prizes. Lori Warden won the auction and through that, the Placerville Club donated an additional $675 to KFH through this fundraiser

Congratulations to Karen Borman of the Kiwanis Club of Carmichael, California who won 3rd prize (two tickets in the viewing stand).

Karen Borman said: "I am of course happy to win. It is an excellent cause plus Roni makes it fun. I already have family plans so I am donating the parade tickets back to our KFH."

Roni concluded: "I am so grateful that through the support of all those that entered into the Tournament of Roses Extravaganza, we were able to raise approximately $5600 for KFH ... thank you again, everyone!!!"

Woodcreek Key Club S.H.A.R.E.S.

Readers of House Talk know about the S.H.A.R.E.S. cards program of SaveMart, S-Mart, Food Maxx, and Lucky Supermarkets. But the use of these cards our KFH earns 3% of the gross purchase.

The Key Club of Woodcreek High School in Roseville, California took the distribution of S.H.A.R.E.S. cards as a service project.

When asked why the club selected this a project? President Baines responded: "It helps fundraise for the Kiwanis Family House on U.C. Davis campus."

In response to the question why do you want to help the Family House?

President Baines responded: "They are part of our Kiwanis Family. They help house families that have children at the UC Davis Medical Center so they can be close to their children." Vice President Cana added: "If I was in the hospital, I would want my family support and close to me, which is what the Kiwanis Family House provides."

The 20th Annual Red & White Ball will be at the Dante Club February 11, 2012.

Set your GPS to 2330 Fair Oaks Boulevard, Sacramento, CA.

The Prime Rib promises to be even better this year for the same cost of $40.00.

Tickets will be available in December.

There will be a disk jockey.

-Revitalize Friends of the Kiwanis Family House Program. Add to the membership and provide ongoing recognition to contributors.

-Source additional sources of ongoing funding/grant opportunities.

Karen Borman:

"Since joining the board in June, I have spent most of my time learning about the Family House and the KFH board. I am in awe of the talents of those that serve on the board and of their many accomplishments."

"I have two goals for 2012. One is to have every weekend day covered by volunteers at the front desk for the following reasons. I believe that all Kiwanians should experience the Kiwanis Family House. It is hard to spend three hours there without appreciating everything you have. In addition, it will give the employees an opportunity to catch up and get ahead with their assignments."

"My second goal is to get the clothes closet working to everyone's benefit. I will need once a month volunteers for that job also."

Emily Chirk: "In looking back on this past year, I find one of our achievements to be that of a successful strategic planning meeting. The meeting provided the new goals that we hope to work towards in the upcoming year. For 2012, in particular, I am excited about bringing more support to the Kiwanis Family House through the involvement of the Service Leadership Programs in the form of the Circle K Clubs and Key Clubs in the Cal-Nev-Ha District. While many Circle K Clubs and Key Clubs already do provide the KFH support in areas of fundraising and service, by developing a program that allows them to become official sponsors of the KFH, we will be able to garner the support of many more clubs, thank and acknowledge those that already support the KFH, and truly make the KFH an outstanding example of what can happen when all branches of the Kiwanis Family work together."

Neil Strain: "I am very pleased with the increase of public awareness of KFH over the past year."

My wish for the coming year would be to implement as many points in our new Strategic Plan as possible.

Matthew Wehner: "In the five months since joining the board, I have gained an understanding of the house finances and I am preparing the 2011 tax return."

"My goal is to utilize volunteers more at the house. I would like to see clubs and members more involved with the house."

Heraclitus was an ancient Greek philosopher who lived about 100 years before Plato. He held "Nothing is permanent except change. The only constant is change". There will be changes for 2012, some foreseen and some not.

Our success is not based on the obstacles that lie before us, but how we overcome them.

Creelman-Francisco Classic 2012

The Creelman-Francisco Classic is the oldest charity gold tournament in Kiwanis.

All proceeds from that event support our Kiwanis Family House.

For 2012 Kiwanis Governor Richard "Dick" G. Olmstead Jr. will be playing in the Creelman-Francisco Classic. Mark your calendars. For details contact: Chris Creelman (916) 709-1839.

Chaplain's Corner

Bev Johnson, Sunshine

The end of a calendar year is a time for reflections, a time for remembering special events during the past year and beyond.

Over the years Kiwanians have remembered the special contributions of individuals and groups in a variety of ways.

One way has been with a copper colored oak leaf.

I'll never forget the one memorial leaf on the door to room #3 in the original Kiwanis Family House on 48th St. It reads: "Bev Johnson, Sunshine".

Let me tell you about Bev Johnson, Sunshine. Twenty-eight years ago this month, at the age of 23 years, she was admitted to Sutter Memorial Hospital for the final time.

Beverly was born with Cystic Fibrosis, a terminal disease that took the lives of children many years younger than Bev.

Early on Beverly resolved not to let this disease intrude on who she was or what she could achieve. She pulled top grades, bagged honors for graphic designs and played the clarinet in the Rio Americano High School Marching Band.

While in college she went to work for Cal Trans as a draftsman. And rarely did a week pass that she didn't visit a friend in the hospital or at home, someone who needed encouragement and cheering up.

She was a huge presence at Cystic Fibrosis fundraisers. In the early eighties, when the disease began to exhibit ominous signs of the approaching end of her life, with a shrug of her shoulders she would say: "Please, no heroic measures to save me if my time comes." And as she spoke she wore that contagious smile. "There's nothing to be sad about,"

she said. "I've had 23 great years."

A few months after her death, the original Kiwanis Family House opened its doors to serve as a refuge for parents and loved ones of critically ill children. It was appropriate to remember Beverly's spirit and her family contributions with a small oak leaf that read – "Bev Johnson, Sunshine".

I remember Beverly at this time for two reasons.

First, the Christmas season reminds me of words from the Old Testament prophet Isaiah. "The people walking in darkness have seen a great light; on those living in the land of the shadow of death light has dawned." (Isaiah 9:8) Christians understand these words as a reference to Jesus who might be described as "Sonshine".

Like it has been in previous generations so today people still find themselves in deep darkness, darkness caused by threats of war, collapsing economies, unemployment and issues of health. But, through the "Sonshine" of Bethlehem's child there is hope and a future. So it was. Beverly refused to give up. She always looked ahead and she encouraged others to do the same.

Second, the other reason I reflect on Beverly at this time is because an attitude of Sunshine is what the KFJ mission is about.

A few weeks ago I visited with a woman whose husband had died a month earlier. Her granddaughter was at the Medical Center where she was recovering from her second kidney transplant. And if all this wasn't enough, this woman's one daughter was battling terminal cancer. If I were to summarize her comments to me she said: "I need this place and all the smiles and the help of all who make this possible."

As I reflect on it, Beverly's smile continues. It's vivid in my memory. But it's also replicated by each of you in what you do and give to make the Kiwanis Family House a haven of help and hope. So, consider yourself the recipient of a maple leaf. It has your name inscribed. And it reads "Sunshine". For, as one who supports KFJ that's what you are for others.

Have a wonderful New Year!

Walter C. Tietjen, Chaplain

New teleaudiology program to improve follow-up for newborns who did not pass hearing screening

Babies who do not pass newborn hearing screening tests require immediate diagnosis and intervention, but that can be a challenge for families living in the vast expanse of rural Northern California, where a dearth of pediatric hearing specialists, geographic isolation and the topography all conspire to create obstacles.

Those obstacles meant that in 2007, 40% of rural Northern California newborns who needed additional testing for a potential hearing loss did not receive it and were "lost to follow-up" care -- giving Northern California the poorest lost-to-follow-up rate in the state, where the overall average was 8%.

"Bringing these babies back for testing is imperative to optimize their development, especially the speech development critical to acquiring language and learning," said Anne Simon, senior pediatric audiologist in the UC Davis Department of Otolaryngology.

But Simon also said she understands that there are substantial barriers that discourage families in rural communities from making the trek to the audiologist so that their infant can receive additional testing.

"Making the three- or four-hour-long trip to a big city medical center with a four-week-old baby and may not be possible for many families," Simon said.

To meet those families' needs and improve the numbers of infants receiving follow-up care for hearing loss, UC Davis has entered into a unique new partnership with the State of California and Mercy Medical Center, Redding. It will allow infants located throughout Northern California to be seen by a pediatric audiologist at UC Davis -- via telemedicine.

Among the first of its kind in the nation, the new pilot program is funded by a three-year, $354,242 grant from the U.S. Health Resources and Services Administration Maternal and Child Health Bureau through the state Department of Health Care Services (DHCS), Children's Medical Services.

Early identification of deaf and hard-of-hearing infants before three months of age and starting early intervention services before six months of age are the most important factors in developing age-appropriate language skills, whether families communicate using sign language or spoken language.

Participation in the program is by referral from the state Hearing Coordination Center.

The teleaudiology program is unique because, rather than consulting with audiologists or other clinicians at the remote location, who then diagnose and treat the patient, the UC Davis audiologists actually perform the hearing screening and make the diagnosis.

The telemedicine connection also allows Simon to switch camera views in order to see the infant and their parent, as well as the technician and the screening room, and to view the child's ear canal and eardrum with the information being recorded by the device during the two- to four-hour-long testing period.

Simon administers three tests to determine whether a child does indeed have hearing loss, and if so, its source.

In the auditory brainstem response (ABR) test, an electrical signal is evoked from the brainstem as a response to an auditory stimulus. It tests whether the child may have a conductive hearing loss, which may be caused by obstruction of the middle ear, a sensory loss in the cochlea, or neurological issues. The second test, otoacoustic emissions (OAEs), tests inner-ear health and can indicate the site of a lesion for hearing loss in infants. Tympanometry tests the health of the middle ear and the mobility of the ear drum.

Simon said that the goal is to have children return for diagnostic testing and follow-up care by the time they reach three months old, at the latest.

"The sooner the better," Simon said. "If we intervene by 6 months we find that children have a much better chance of acquiring age-appropriate language," she said. "So we want to get hearing aids on them by 6 months."

members and clubs to seek out fund raising opportunities and sharing our story.

Red & White Ball

We already have the 20th Annual Red and White Ball scheduled for Feb. 11 at the Dante Club in Sacramento and the Lt. Governors of Divisions 7 and 44 hope to bring 3,000 K Family members together April 28th at the River Cats Stadium for Governor Olmstead's visit followed by a baseball game.

The Creelman-Francisco Golf Tournament is scheduled for April 26th and the Swing FORE Kids Golf tournament is scheduled for August 27th.

We also have a committee working on bringing a major performer to Sacramento for a celebration fund raiser for our 30th anniversary in July of 2014. This year KFH was represented at about 36 United Way Events giving us the opportunity to share our story throughout the community and we will do this again.

A Key Club advisor who runs marathons is interested in a run for KFH. Sounds like 2012 will be very exciting!

The Board approved an updated Strategic Plan developed by a large committee in October at the December board meeting. A new high powered committee headed by Gary Christensen was appointed to prioritize then present an implementation strategy to the Board. This will help keep the Board focused as we deal with the many challenges an operation of this size faces. The Board also approved a new job description for the House Manager that will help streamline the management of the House in accordance with the Strategic Plan.

On behalf of all of us at KFH we thank you for your help with this wonderful service project and wish you the very best in the New Year! You are making a difference!!! Till next time,

Yours in Kiwanis Service,
