Election results

The results are in from the annual meeting of our Kiwanis Family House. The terrific trio elected to serve three year terms are (from left to right) Dan Saulisberry (Kiwanis Club of Galt), William "Rick" Dwyer (Kiwanis Club of Sacramento) and Bernard Bowes, Jr. (Kiwanis Club of Rancho Murieta).

President’s Message
by Bill Hooper

Our Kiwanis Family House (KFH) annual meeting was held on June 9th at the KFH.

Thanks to the sponsor clubs who turned out in person or by proxy to make a quorum.

The highlight was the recognition of Mauda Butte for her contributions to the House by the Board of Directors. Mauda’s leadership as House Director from 2000 thru 2011 was recognized by dedicating a bedroom in her name.

Wearing another of her Kiwanis hats, as a member of the Kiwanis Club of KFH, Mauda presented Ron Abbott a Bright Award from the KFH club for his support of the House for many years.

Both these outstanding Kiwanians were very deserving and without contributions like theirs we would not have our wonderful House.

Rick Dwyer received a plaque for his service as President of the KFH Board for six years and Joyce Blonskij for six years as Board Treasurer. Neil Strain and Dan Saulisberry were also recognized for their contributions as Board members. All of these people spent countless hours to make sure the House was operating properly to accommodate our guest families.

Thank you!

The almost former Division 44 Lt. Gov. Bernie Bowes was elected to the Board, and Dan Saulisberry was reelected to a second three year term. Past President Rick Dwyer, after taking a year off from the Board, was elected to a three year term.

It is so important to have experienced, dedicated board members and I feel we have a great group and I thank each of them for being willing to share their time, talent, and treasure to make our Kiwanis Family House the successful operation it is.

The meeting was followed by a luncheon donated by UCD Medical Center. The Board thanks all of you who attended and sent in your proxies and to the Medical Center for lunch.

The Board met after the election to conduct business. Elections included: Bill Hooper as president, Calvin Hara as vice president, Emily Chirk as secretary, and Mathew (Continued on page 7)

International audience, here we come! As I write this, we are within ten days of the convention and are putting the final touches on our new 30-minute presentation.

Last month, I told you about our impending opportunity to showcase our Kiwanis Family House (KFH), at the joint Kiwanis/Circle K International Conventions in New Orleans, Louisiana.

While five of us will share brief speaking roles, former guests and their families will be telling their powerful and personal stories, directly to conventioners via video, testifying as to how vital the KFH was to their families’ comfort and healing. I want you, our dedicated supporters, to know these families too.

Redding, California mother Jennifer Deshaies stayed at the House for five months, while her newborn daughter Erica gained enough strength to handle multiple surgeries, including repair of a defective heart and of an esophagus which did not connect to her stomach.

Jennifer will tell those attending the convention that, during her stay, she met so many wonderful people from all over the country. In the process, she will help us persuade Circle K members and Kiwanians from every district in International that the KFH returns healed families to local communities around the world.

We first met Airyanna (A.J.) Cain as a child cancer patient. As her parents tearfully describe A.J.’s battle with childhood leukemia, convention goers will hear how the young girl would peer out her hospital room window each morning and watch for her parents to emerge from the Kiwanis Family House.

From medical professionals, they will also hear about how important it is for sick and injured patients to have family close by during their hospitalizations. Today, A.J. is 20 years old, married, and expecting her first child.

Buddy Howard lives in Yerington, Nevada. Since 2005, Buddy has boarded Angel Flight and flown more than 50 times over the Sierra Nevada to Sacramento for his cancer treatments. Each time, Buddy has stayed at our KFH. Buddy is among our best ambassadors, often consoling guests who are facing medical crises for the first time in their lives. As Buddy tells his own story, he will gratefully tell Circle K’ers and Kiwanians that K-Family members are giving by nature and “they just can’t seem to give enough.”

A propane gas explosion leveled the home of Thor and Celeste Westby in February 2012. In bed at the time, Thor and Celeste miraculously survived after being hurtled considerable distances and landing under debris. Celeste was burned over 40 percent of her body and required intensive treatments for nearly three months before being released. With no other place to stay, Thor and his young son Talon landed at our KFH and quickly endeared themselves to staff and volunteers.

As Thor tells it, his first night at the KFH was his first night of sleep in the week after the explosion. Circle K’ers and Kiwanians in New Orleans will hear how Talon Westby refuted the suggestion that his family had lost everything by taking a hand from each of his parents and saying quite the opposite.

When the soccer match he was watching in Haiti delivered a victorious moment, teenager Woodmay Lozier leaped skyward in celebration. He unexpectedly made contact with a power line, was electrocuted, lost an arm, and suffered serious burns across his entire body. He survived the accident but received minimal medical attention in his country.

Sister Pauline Quinn O.P., who was in Haiti on a separate mission, discovered Woodmay on the streets of his Haitian town and took up his cause. Following many phone calls, the only hospital in the United States that would take Woodmay’s case was the Shriners Hospital for Children in Sacramento. Sister Pauline will tell Kiwanis and Circle K members attending the convention that she could not have delivered Woodmay to the medical professionals in Sacramento or stayed to provide her own caring support without our Kiwanis Family House.

Regarding the compelling KFH story, our primary objective will be to educate and inspire members of Kiwanis and Circle K from distant communities. I am confident that those of us who will speak in New Orleans will do a very good job with our live portions of the presentation. However, we clearly recognize that we need to get out of the way and allow our former guests to make the greatest impact on the audience.

I cannot wait to return from New Orleans and tell you about all of the hearts we reached.

In our Kiwanis Family House (KFH) playground, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs need painting. They are remnants of our original KFH.

Snow White and friends are attached to concrete, so will have to be painted in place. Definitely an evening project or fall when it is cooler. You don’t have to be an artist, just a willing person with a steady hand.

Board member Karen Borman further explains that our KFH has an average of five families checking out each day with an equal amount waiting to register.

This creates a back-up of laundry, sheets, and towels.

Would your club be willing to commit to a day a week, or a day a month for three hours?

During that time the volunteer would put the linens in the washer and select from a list of other opportunities to do while the washing machine does its job, then transfer to dryer and repeat.

The other opportunities are as needed: Cleaning kitchens, sorting books and DVDs, organizing the playroom.

The need is greater on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, and Saturdays.

The time could be scheduled to meet the needs of your club members.

Family House developed the Bright Award in memory of Vern and Leona Bright, the co-founders of our Kiwanis Family House. The first Bright Award was presented to the late Leona Bright, July 21, 2006.

Applications may be made to the KFH Board with a completed write up on the proposed recipient with a payment of $1,000.00

The Kiwanis Clubs of the Kiwanis Family House of Sacramento applied for this award.

Ron Abbott joined the Kiwanis Club of Stockton in 1974 and has had perfect attendance since.

He has served as a Distinguished Club Secretary, Distinguished Club President, and Distinguished Lt. Governor of Division 27.

He has been presented with the George F. Hixon Fellowship of Kiwanis International; William A. Dunlap Fellowship, of Cal-Nev-Ha District.

He was also presented with the Tablet of Honor by Kiwanis International.

But wait there is more: he is a charter member of the Kiwanis Family House Club of Sacramento.

He began serving our Kiwanis Family House in 2000, and has served as a board member.

He instituted the Sponsor-a-Family-for-a-Night-Program allowing people to donate to pay for guests who are not financial able to pay.

He is a leader who sets the example by doing.
Researchers at the UC Davis (Medical Investigation of Neurodevelopmental Disorders) MIND Institute and the University of Washington, Seattle, have received Autism Speaks grants to extend their groundbreaking research into novel, high-impact treatments for very young children.

Sally J. Rogers, UC Davis professor of psychiatry and behavioral sciences, has received a $765,937 three-year grant as part of Autism Speaks’ “Move the Needle” initiative, which seeks to lower the age of autism diagnosis and expand the delivery of high-quality interventions.

Rogers is conducting the work in collaboration with Annette Estes, research associate professor of speech and hearing science at the Center for Human Development and Disability at the University of Washington, Seattle, who received a similar award.

The funding supports a new study focused on enhancing the effects of parent-implemented interventions for the very youngest children with autism spectrum disorders (ASD), toddlers aged 12-30 months.

The study, which began earlier this year with the enrollment of participants, is being conducted in parallel at both sites. Building on a previous Autism Speaks study these scientists carried out last fall, it is developing and testing smart phone technology, new approaches to child assessment, and increased support for families, among other innovations, in order to determine the effects of parent-implemented interventions embedded into the families’ everyday activities.

“Our goal is to increase children’s learning rates and to facilitate their development of language and social skills,” says Rogers. “This project seeks to start as early as possible in making sure that families have all the resources they need to ameliorate the disabilities associated with autism.”

“We know that parent-implemented interventions are a part of the most successful interventions for early ASD,” Rogers said. “But we have much to learn about the impact that parent interventions can have on their own. This study’s proposed intervention methods have great relevance to autism in low-resource communities across the world, where there may be no one but parents available to help their children.”

Called the Parent and Toddlers with ASD at Home, or PATH, project, its approaches are designed to help parents increase social and communicative learning opportunities for their children within highly enjoyable natural play and care-giving activities.

Innovations include multi-modal materials to accommodate different adult learning styles, parent self-monitoring using novel internet technologies to enhance data collection, and use of video for parents to show researchers the new learning opportunities they’re providing to their children.

The project holds special relevance for parents of very young children with ASD, who often are informed that their children are diagnosed with ASD without simultaneously receiving effective treatments. Providing them with validated interventions that they can embed within their daily routines provides them with immediate access to effective intervention and to activities that they themselves can carry out.

The project holds special relevance for the children, as well, who at this age are in the midst of the most rapid learning period of their lives. By ensuring many learning opportunities day in and day out, their progress should be enhanced, reflecting a lifetime of improved functioning, contribution, and quality of life.

Founded in 2005, Autism Speaks is the nation’s largest autism science and advocacy organization, dedicated to funding research into the causes, prevention, treatments and a cure for autism, increasing awareness of ASD, and advocating for the needs of individuals with autism and their families.

At the UC Davis MIND Institute, world-renowned scientists engage in research to find improved treatments as well as the causes and cures for autism, attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder, fragile X syndrome, Tourette syndrome and other neurodevelopmental disorders.

Some of our KFH guests come from the MIND institute located next door at UCDMC campus.
"Letters, we get letters, we get stacks and stacks of letters..."

These letters are left at our KFH addressed to you. They are published to show our readers of the impact made by the staff and services of our Kiwanis Family House and UC Davis Medical Center. The letters are published as originally written and punctuated. This is to preserve the sincerity and spontaneity of the writer.

"Thank you so much for your hospitality.
"You are a huge blessing to my family!
"May the Lord bless you all and may the Lord bless you financially so you can keep helping families
"Blessing one child at a time!"

"My family want to thank everyone here for all the help that you gave us on such short notice.
"We and our son were very blessed for all heartache we did not need to hear our son has cancer of the liver"

"We thank you also very much and may God keep with all the blessing for this house and all that comes in and out.
"Remember God has the last say in it all.
"May God be with us all
"Respect each other, with love"

Dear Kiwanis Family
Thanks for been with us in our time of need and our time of reprieve! Thank you for your kindness, smiles and servant spirit.
Forever we will be grateful for you.
Eric & Xochie Rogers!

Dear Kiwanis House Staff
I wanted to thank you for your generous services. You were there for me when I needed support most. After being at my daughter's bedside for days, I myself being a 5 days post-op for a c-section, I was weak from hunger and was beginning to lose my emotional ground.
I would have never known that something as simple as a shower, a bag of food, and a box of girl scout cookies would have been all that I needed to feel human again. Your services gave me the strength to continue being with my baby.
My child has been released, and we have been home for 4 weeks now, we are both recovering quite well, in fact my daughter is 5 weeks old now!
Thank you again Kiwanis House for being there when I needed you most. You supported me through the toughest experience of my life.
~ with gratitude ~ Melanie

With The Eliminate Project, Kiwanis International and UNICEF have joined forces to eliminate maternal and neonatal tetanus. This deadly disease steals the lives of nearly 60,000 innocent babies and a significant number of women each year. The effects of the disease are excruciating — tiny newborns suffer repeated, painful convulsions and extreme sensitivity to light and touch.

To eliminate MNT from the Earth, more than 100 million mothers and their future babies must be immunized. This requires vaccines, syringes, safe storage, transportation, thousands of skilled staff and more. It will take US$110 million — and the dedicated work of UNICEF and every member of the Kiwanis family.
